Walter Scribbles Website Concept

Maybe also a gallery button?

Home page

- Main page for updates and content in a blog-post kinda format

About Me

- Simple page for personal details, education, portfolio examples? etc

- Commissions page
- Shows the guidelines and prices for different drawing commissions

A hand-drawn sketch of a website header. It features a simple line-art illustration of a person's head facing right. To the right of the illustration, the name "Walter Scribbles" is written in a cursive font. Below the illustration and the name is a horizontal menu bar containing four items: "Home", "About me", "Commissions", and "Shop". The entire sketch is enclosed within a large blue rectangular border.

- Shop
- provides links to purchase art prints and other things (probably will do a website - in website approach)

A hand-drawn sketch of a website shop section. It features the same "Walter Scribbles" logo and menu bar as the previous sketch. Below the menu, the word "Shop" is written in a large, bold, cursive font. Underneath "Shop", there are three square icons representing products: a book labeled "Print $10", a mug labeled "Mug $10", and a t-shirt labeled "Shirt $15". The entire sketch is enclosed within a large blue rectangular border.
